

COAST UNIONISTS PLAN STRIKE TO DEFEND MOONEY

Washington Senator Warns of Big Walkout May 1.

WASHINGTON, April 22.—A movement by Seattle, Wash., labor leaders to call a general strike May 1 as a protest against alleged persecution of Thomas Mooney and others convicted of the bomb conspiracy at San Francisco, was reported to the senate today by Senator Poindexter of Washington, who denounced it in vehement terms as "blackmail" upon the government, sedition and treason.

Labor Takes Action.

Senator Poindexter submitted a letter from Secretary James A. Duncan, of the Seattle Central Labor Union, saying a referendum on the strike was being circulated. He also presented a resolution of Seattle trades unions declaring a "widespread suspicion" exists among workmen that the bomb plot convictions were an attempt to discredit organized labor.

Senator Poindexter also referred to the government commission headed by Secretary Wilson of the department of labor, which recently investigated labor unrest on the Pacific coast and referred to the Mooney case as one of the causes. The Washington senator declared the movement he referred to was originated by the bolshevik and anarchists.

The labor commission, he said, had not attempted to pass on Mooney's guilt but had, however, suggested that the president use his "enormous power" to interfere with California's judicial processes.

Not Well Founded.

Senator Poindexter said Mooney and his co-defendants had undergone the usual court processes and that the Seattle labor movement was by false representations of labor, indicative of a general international lawless effort. The charge that the bomb plot prosecutions were designed to discredit organized labor, Senator Poindexter asserted, was "scandalous" and based on mere suspicion.

FOOD SHOW HAS BIG ATTENDANCE ON OPENING DATE

her ears to be sure not to miss anything relative to using the potato as a wheat substitute.

The use of the raw potato and the cold mashed potato in place of wheat flour for making griddle cakes, waffles, muffins, biscuits and quick breads was the subject of Miss Osborne's lecture and demonstration. Before beginning her lecture Miss Osborne told the women that they must not expect the muffins and breads to look the same when made of potatoes, as they did when made of wheat flour. "They do not look the same, when finished, neither do they taste the same," she said, "and we couldn't expect them to. We must not expect bread made of substitutes to look the same as bread made of white flour."

Tasted Good.

"It is just as impossible for this to happen as it is for our clothes to look the same next year as they do this year. I've heard and you probably all have too, that our clothes will not be all wool again as long as the war lasts but they will be intermixed with cotton. They won't look as good as the ones we are wearing at present but they will serve the purpose. The breads don't look the same but they serve the same and even a better purpose. Griddle cakes are dark in color when made of potatoes and so are the breads."

There was no white flour used in Miss Osborne's demonstration this afternoon, and when finished the cooking just melted in the mouth and tasted lots better than any suits made of cotton could ever look. Miss Osborne was assisted by Miss Geraldine Drennen and Miss Charlotte Turkey, two of the girls from the domestic science department in the high school.

Demonstrators at Booths.

Every booth at the food show has a demonstrator, to advertise the goods. Mrs. Maude O'Neil is giving exhibitions of Coor's malted milk. Mrs. J. C. Dittmer has charge of the Red Cross flour booth and has her kitchen all

Victory Bread Demonstrator Shows How to Use Potatoes

Miss Leno Osborne, domestic science expert, demonstrated "Victory war breads" at the food show this afternoon in the city auditorium and showed housewives how to use potatoes in the conservation of wheat.

ready to show women how to make corn cakes, corn muffins, waffles, gems and corn bread. Special emphasis is being placed on rice flour and corn meal and only a very small portion of white flour will be used in this booth. The Morris and company booth is decorated with a huge service flag in the background with 600 stars. Mrs. A. Griffith will be in charge of the Iken Biscuit company booth and will serve women with all different kinds of biscuits made of substitute flours. Mrs. C. B. Logan, Mrs. Lucy Layton and Miss Joy Finnell will serve coffee, peanut and corn crackers in the Williamson-Halsell-Frasier booth.

Thirty-three Booths in Action. At the close of Miss Osborne's demonstration the thirty-three booths, came into prompt action, and the woman demonstrator in charge of each one commenced her individual demonstrations. Good things to eat were handed out over the counter in rapid succession, everything from coffee and peanut butter in the Williamson-Halsell-Frasier booth to a package of Rumford baking powder, and housewives were loaded down with new things to try.

The cook books, compiled by the women of the food facts bureau of the council of defense, which were included with the twenty-five cent admission ticket were greatly sought after and the food administration booth where they were given out was fairly swamped. The patriotic red, white and blue market baskets were also in great demand by the women. These baskets were improvised to help conserve the man power of the United States, so that women can carry their parcels to and from the stores and so save the deliveries.

Exhibits Interest Many.

The graphic exhibits in the food administration booth also attracted great interest. These exhibits have been on show at every food show recently held in the United States. They show women what foods should be saved. Brown's C. O. D. grocery store is providing the foods for illustrating the exhibit on "eat more corn" and the Crescent grocery store for the garden exhibit. In the "eat more corn" exhibit, a basket of corn on the cob is shown, with the products of corn in receptacles placed near. These receptacles contain corn oil, corn syrup, corn grits, hominy and corn meal. The garden exhibit shows the products of a garden, those food which can be

Will Be Exchanged.

Mrs. A. L. Welsh, president of the Women of '89, will lead her pioneer sisters this evening in celebrating their twenty-ninth anniversary, when the society of 89ers will gather at the Chamber of Commerce at 7 o'clock for a banquet, interspersed with reminiscences of bygone days.

John E. Carson, president of the Society of '89, will act as toastmaster. The invocation will be given by Mr. Beadle who as an '89er and a veteran of the Civil war has acted in this capacity during the years when anniversaries have been observed. Dr. Angelo C. Scott, Frank Wilkoff, William J. Petter and Jean Everest faithful in their activities of the society, will respond to toasts pertinent to the day.

Miss Mildred Morrow, grand daughter of an '89er, will sing "Oklahoma" and the banqueters will join in America's national anthem.

Twenty years ago today, a great banquet was held at the same hour in the Grand avenue hotel when many of the same diners gathered and made merry. At that banquet Mr. and Mrs. William J. Petter also attended. Mr. Petter discoursing upon "Figuring On the Futures." This evening he will become reminiscent and detail what he prophesied when the spirit of Oklahoma was young.

As the day broke fair and bright today, John E. Carson, toastmaster of the evening, harked back to that day twenty years ago, when he arrived at midnight for the land rush.

Just at daybreak on that memorable morning, the buglers who were camped on Fourth street just east of the Santa Fe, sounded their calls prophetic of a great and growing civilization. This evening he will recall that event in his capacity as toastmaster.

Among those who will attend are: Mr. and Mrs. John E. Carson, Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Welsh, Mr. and Mrs. William J. Petter, Miss Helen Petter, Miss Margaret Petter and Mrs. Fred Warner of Pontiac, Michigan, a former Oklahoma City resident; Mrs. T. M. Richardson sr. and Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Richardson jr., Mr. and Mrs. T. M. Uphaw, Mr. and Mrs. George W. Spencer, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Harrah, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Galbreath.

BRIDE AT DAM CELEBRATION EIGHTY-NINER

bration, because she, too, is an '89er, having come to the city in October after the opening took place April 22, 1889. She is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Dittmer. Her mother is dead, but her father still lives a few miles outside of Oklahoma City. The sister, Miss Jill, is the twin sister of Jack Dittmer, a well known Oklahoma City young man, who volunteered for the army engineers and is at the present time stationed at Vancouver barracks.

The bridegroom, H. L. Hilton, is a son of Mr. and Mrs. N. H. Hilton of Denison, Texas, his boyhood home, and where his parents still live. Hilton came to this city two years ago from Denison, possessing neither money nor friends, and his previous business life limited to working in a grocery store. He has gone ahead with wonderful strides, having made close to $50,000 in the oil business in the two years he has been in this city. He has many friends here. Following his finishing his work as vice-president of the Gladstone Oil and Refining company, he was for a time connected with the Federal Trust company, but in the future he is to operate as an independent oil man without company affiliation.

Business at the courthouse was forgotten for the afternoon, practically every office closing at noon. Even the courts observed the holiday, the county court attending to all its business during the forenoon, and the district court, presided over by Judge George W. Clark being the scene of all district court proceedings of importance. Even the sheriff's office closed in honor of the occasion, business being handled temporarily through the county jail, which remained open.

was given for them to go over this $2,000,000 job, which, besides this huge sum of money, cost the lives of three citizen workmen while the dam was being built, through an accident.

At 5 o'clock a huge call of assembly will be heard and the crowds will be expected to come to the place in front of the speakers' stand near the dam, to listen to the exercises. Among the features of the celebration will be a band concert by an Oklahoma City band.

Masons to Lay Cornerstone.

The speaking will be a exceedingly brief. The exercises will be opened by Mayor Ed Overholser shortly after 3 o'clock. Following this the cornerstone of the dam will be laid according to Masonic rites. Beneath the stone will be placed a copper box containing the names of all Oklahoma City men killed in the great war to date, names of men now serving in the army and navy, historical data, photographs of street scenes, of the members of the city government, Governor Ross, Williams, Liberty bond posters and literature and copies of Oklahoma City newspapers of this day's issue.

A short address will be given by Dr. A. C. Scott of the '89ers association. The members of this association will have a place of honor in the day's program and will occupy seats on the speakers' stand.

At 4:15 a wedding will take place on top of the dam. The bridegroom is a well known oil man, a native of Texas and the bride-elect is the daughter of an '89er. Oklahoma City merchants have contributed handsome wedding gifts for this couple to the value of at least $500.

The band concert is to be finished at 5 p. m. The services to be maintained by the auto dealers' meeting, the interurban cars will be continuous between 12:30 and as late as there are cars full of persons at the dam waiting to be carried to the interurbans.

Courts Observe Holiday. Business at the courthouse was forgotten for the afternoon, practically every office closing at noon. Even the courts observed the holiday, the county court attending to all its business during the forenoon, and the district court, presided over by Judge George W. Clark being the scene of all district court proceedings of importance. Even the sheriff's office closed in honor of the occasion, business being handled temporarily through the county jail, which remained open.

Preferential State Convention Planned by G.O.P. Committee

A preferential state convention of republican county delegates will be held in Oklahoma City on May 22, according to action taken this morning by the state central committee attended by representatives from about thirty counties of the state. At the state convention a complete state ticket to be offered at the August primary will be nominated, if plans of the central committee made this morning do not miscarry. The committee is in session this afternoon in the Skirvin hotel discussing the advisability of initiating the new election law measure which was favored in a resolution passed at a previous session.
